Unless specifically identified as refundable, all fees are non-refundable. Security deposit amounts may vary based on screening results and will not exceed limits permitted by applicable law. Residents are responsible for maintaining any insurance required under the Lease and for damages that exceed ordinary wear and tear. Certain fees may not apply to every apartment home or resident and may be assessed only when the applicable circumstance occurs.

This fee guide is provided for informational purposes and does not modify or replace the Lease, application, addenda, or other governing documents. Additional fees may apply in specific situations as provided in those documents, which may be requested for review prior to application. All fees remain subject to the terms of the applicable application and/or Lease and to applicable law. Residents may also be responsible for establishing, transferring, and maintaining utility services - including electricity, water, gas, internet, and other services - as required by the Lease.

Standard fees generally apply as listed. | Situational fees are charged only when the applicable circumstance occurs. | Monthly fees are assessed during the applicable lease term. | Pet-related fees apply only when applicable. | Violation fees apply only when the related violation occurs. | Replacement fees apply only when a replacement item is requested or required. | Corporate lease fees apply only to applicable corporate leases. | Security deposit amounts may vary based on screening results. | Lease-breaking and TOS fees apply only when applicable.
